LANA STRAW WEEKLY
THE STRAW

W7
OCT 28, 2026
WEEK 7

A BEDTIME STORY · TEXAS TORNADO'S BUSH · 7-0

ONCE UPON A 7-0.

He wrote what he wanted on a napkin, turned off the lamp, and woke up the last unbeaten team in Lana Straw.

RAPIDS
The Jigba, 6-0, runs aground on the Bush. 92.72.

1-6
Jerry files a request: "please be gentle"

★☆☆☆☆
Fantasy Pawn & Trade gets its first review.

TAPES
The Guy Next Door leaves the pod four voicemails. "Bravo. Bravo. Amazing."

EDITOR'S LETTER

Dear Monday Night

You know what you did. Some of you know what you did.

Dear Monday Night, you used to have the decency to arrive on Mondays. This week you let yourself in at Sunday lunch, and Celery sticks opened his app and found you already sitting in his lineup: "When fantasy just feels like a Monday before Monday."

The Guy Next Door brought you a 3.56-point lead and every reason to feel good about it, and CeeDee Lamb walked him out by the elbow for 21.90. Boom, buried by Backdoor Heat with George Pickens still on the field, leaned into the television and asked for "45 more points", which, to be fair to Boom, was close to what it would have taken. And before you had even kicked off, Jerry, 1-6 and all alone down there, filed a request in writing: "please be gentle as you tell the story of Jerry GM Jerry Owner this week."

There is one manager you have never met, and he is asleep. Texas Tornado's Bush writes what he wants on a napkin, turns off the lamp and leaves you to it, and in the morning he is 7-0, the last unbeaten team in Lana Straw. He has looked at the rest of us, the ones who sat up with you asking George Pickens for things, and he does not understand what we are doing: "I don't know why we don't all do this." He put it more plainly over coffee. "The Bush does not watch Monday night. Monday night watches him".

Yours, up past bedtime, the Straw

CLOSED WEDNESDAY, OCT. 28

CONTENTS

Once Upon a 7-0 03-04
The Bush, and the Jigba's river

Fantasy Pawn & Trade 05-06
Boom Baum, reviewed

Please Be Gentle 07-08
Jerry GM + Jerry Owner

The Voicemail Tapes 09
The Guy Next Door calls the pod

Short Stories 10
And the rules committee

The Champeens 11
Downstairs

The Knockout 12
Five duos remain

On the Airwaves 13
S05 EP08, the calls graded

Transactions 14
The Desk

Scoreboards 15-16
Premier, Champeens, Point After

THE WEEK IN NUMBERS

7-0	The Bush, last unbeaten team in Lana Straw
5	Jigba posts from Sunday kickoff to press time. 25 on Thursday alone
3.57	What CeeDee Lamb needed over Saquon Monday night. He got 7.80
167.18	The False Hopes, high score in all of Lana Straw

OVERHEARD

> "It's national TE day. … I knew I should have played Darnell Washington."
>
> SHINY HINEYS · SUNDAY MORNING

> "I just wish we could've known our defense was bad last season so we could've had a chance to correct it"
>
> COWBOYS NOVEMBER FALSE HOPES · MONDAY NIGHT

> "Wow…what a world, I was having to root for Brad Johnson as a starting QB when he was 40…"
>
> AMBURGERS · MONDAY MORNING. THEN: "NOW I'M 40…"

COVER STORY · TEXAS TORNADO'S BUSH · 7-0 · PART I

Once Upon a 7-0

A bedtime story in four chapters, about a prince who wrote what he wanted on a napkin and went to sleep, and a king on a golden river who stayed up talking.

CHAPTER ONE

In Which Nothing Can Go Wrong

Once upon a time, in a kingdom of twelve castles, there lived a prince called Texas Tornado's Bush who had never lost a game and could not have told you why. Friday the oracle gave him 99.9 percent and a shrug: "Undefeated with the 5th-most points. Don't ask how, just ride it." Amburgers, the clerk, asked the question that gets everyone in a fairy tale killed: "Nothing can go wrong right?" The prince answered for the whole kingdom. "Nothing can go wrong. Everything is going according to plan."

The phone was green before he opened his eyes.

CHAPTER TWO

The King on the Golden River

Upriver lived the only other unbeaten man in the land, the king of the Kickers n Jigba, 6-0 with 971 points, who in September had been told he was living in a river and said he was soaking it in, "Cause I know it can change." A king talks when he wins, and Thursday he was still going when the commissioner's lineup came out projected for 143. "I'll take the under. NCT on it, Scott?" The commissioner offered a duel on points, man to man, and the king called it what it was: "Bunch of pansies won't back up their big mouths". His terms: "If you spot me, Josh, Alan's average weekly output in my QB spot., You're on". Josh Allen was on bye. The commissioner, laughing, agreed to pay the wages of a man with the week off, then scored 118.94 to the king's 92.72. That same morning the king had thought out loud about the prince the way a man thinks about a girl who will not text back: "Am I insane for considering trading away JSN to [the Bush] even though he doesn't respond to my DMs and says mean things about me in his "Rip it and let it Rip" sessions?" Boom, gently: "Josh ignores me about 75% of the time."

CHAPTER THREE

The Napkin

Every fairy tale needs a spell, and this one was cast at Sunday lunch by a peasant called Backdoor Heat, who meant it as a curse: "At least it's better than Texas's Bush waking up to winning!" The prince took it as a schedule. "I fully plan to go to bed tonight peacefully knowing I'll wake up tomorrow to another Texas Tornado Bush W." The Guy Next Door, who lost to him this way last week, checked the fine print: "I'm just surprised he knows neither team has someone playing on Monday night". By nightfall the prince was ahead and worried. "That field goal would have given me some comfort". The clerk read him his rights: "You're not allowed to feel anxiety when you're ahead. The anxiety police will come get you". "The Anxiety Police are keeping me awake right meow". Upriver, with nothing left to lose, the king took the badge. He patrols now as Njigba's Anxiety Police.

CHAPTER FOUR

The Morning After

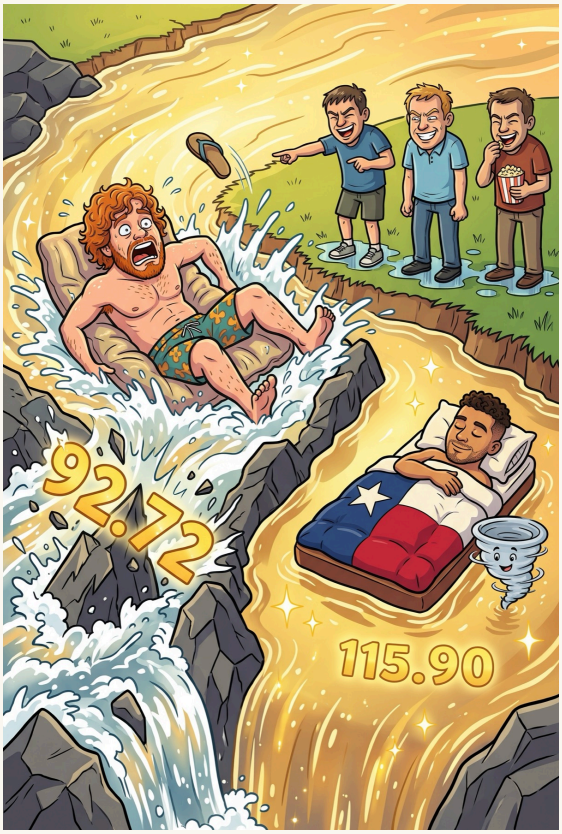

He woke up 7-0, 115.90 to 92.72. Trey McBride, the man the king had wanted, scored 23.1 against him. Jaxon Smith-Njigba scored 27.8, the best line in the game, for a king who lost by 23.18 to the prince who does not answer his DMs. The golden river went out from under him and turned to rapids. Monday the prince came down to the trophy committee, fresh off his motion that each gemstone on the new trophy be a different type of anal wart, and explained the magic to a room that had not asked: "I suggest writing down on a napkin what you want to happen during the Sunday or Monday night game then just going to bed. When you wake up, you have a W. I don't know why we don't all do this." Then the verse he carries like a man reading off his own crest: "The Bush does not watch Monday night. Monday night watches him".

TO BE CONTINUED ON THE NEXT PAGE

COVER STORY · TEXAS TORNADO'S BUSH · 7-0 · PART II

The Napkin, and the Rapids

Recovered from the nightstand Monday morning, next to the lantern. Every wish on it came true to the decimal except the one he crossed out himself. Downstream, the king.

Sunday night. Things I want.

Wake up a W	✓ 115.90 to 92.72
McBride goes off	✓ 23.1
Jonathan Taylor too	✓ 18.0
Ollie Gordon, something	✓ 17.8
Mahomes doesn't have to do anything	✓ 5.5
Butker, some comfort	5.0
Skattebo saves it for next week	✓ 19.6, bench
The Jigba stays under 93	✓ 92.72
~~A tie would be fine too~~	no
Sleep	✓

– the Bush, ~~7-0~~

91 messages the week he beat Boom. The whole kingdom heard about it.

25 messages Thursday, most of them aimed at the commissioner's projection messages since Sunday's kickoff. Two of them had no words.

5

27.8
Jaxon Smith-Njigba, the best score in the game. He kept him and lost anyway.

Sunday night the court gathered on the bank to watch the king go over. Boom: "how does it feel to be with the commoners again?" The False Hopes lit a candle for his "Throne of Lies arc". Then two days of nothing from the loudest man in the land. Wednesday he surfaced downstream in the Knockout, where his duo had just hung 151.02, and found Peens Bound to say it to: "Get your projection up, boy!"

"It's terrible. I don't know how yall do it."

THE KICKERS N JIGBA, TO BOOM, ON LIFE AMONG THE COMMONERS · 92.72

THE PAWN SHOP · LAMAR JACKSON · $1.99, AS IS

Fantasy Pawn & Trade

Every Premier rookie gets the same welcome from Boom Baum: a trade, a regret, a request for the player back. This year's rookie runs a pawn shop.

Open late. All trades final.

The rite is simple. Boom sends a first-year a trade, sleeps on it, and comes back with his hat in his hand. In 2025 the rookie was Celery sticks, and Boom has described the technique himself: "All I did was said 'I regret it…will you trade back?' And Zach said, yes." Celery even waived the fee. Boom, taking his bow: "Wow. What a manipulative bully. I am."

This October the rookie was No Gold, All Glory. Boom sent over Lamar Jackson for Jayden Daniels, regretted it right on schedule, and asked for his quarterback back. Nobody had told Boom what the rookie does for a living. He moves quarterbacks the way other men move used Camrys and snake oil, off the lot, as is, all smiles and no warranty, and he had been waiting his whole life for an honest, trusting customer like Boom Baum. The rookie let Lamar sit on the lot, sold him back for a token amount of draft dollars, as is, crutches included, and Lamar spent his first Sunday home on Boom's bench for 0.0. The man with "2,765 trades" on his résumé had been sold a lemon by a first-year. So he did what any honest customer does. He painted the store, "Buyer beware.", and left the review at right.

No Gold, All Glory Fantasy Pawn & Trade

PAWN · QBS · OPEN

Boom Baum
Premier · 2-5 · 1 review

★☆☆☆☆ 1/5 Stars · Sunday

Warning ⚠ No Gold, All Glory Fantasy Pawn shop is a scam. [Randall] sells broken players. I went in looking for relief from my poverty traded away my draft capital future and got Lamar Jackson on crutches and a roster held together by a jock strap and a mouth guard up my anus. No refunds. No integrity. No glory. Only thing Randall hasn't injured is his ability to screw people over.

Useful Funny Cool

RESPONSE FROM THE OWNER · NO GOLD, ALL GLORY

"A fool and his draft dollars are soon parted" - Ghandi

RESPONSE FROM THE OWNER · LATER THAT MORNING

Time for a fantasy football intervention.

In an act of extreme charity, and because I am a moral and upstanding Lana Straw citizen. I traded Jayden Daniels to you for a busted Lamar Jackson. Daniels turned in the 7th best QB performance of the week despite playing without a brain. My kindness wasn't good enough. Like Adam Sandler in Uncut Gems, Boom can never be happy and is always chasing that next high, the next parlay, looking to fill the void within.

The next week you asked for your money back and even though I had the luxury of waiting to see if Lamar could get back to his old form, I traded him back to you because "he clearly needs this more than me, poor guy" and accepted a token amount of draft dollars so you would feel better about yourself.

Time to look in the mirror [Boom], maybe the broken player is you.

LAMAR JACKSON · THE ITINERARY

THREE TRADES, ELEVEN DAYS, ONE STREET

FRI, OCT. 16
Boom sends him across to No Gold, for Jayden Daniels. Boom's idea.

→TUE, OCT. 20
No Gold sends him back for Daniels and a token amount of draft dollars.

→SUN, OCT. 25
Boom's bench, 0.0
Boom lost by 46.72 with Lamar in the bin and Kirk Cousins at the register.

→TUE, OCT. 27
Boom sends him to H-Town with G. Wilson, Swift and Olave, for McMillan, Egbuka, Higgins and Breece Hall. $90 out, $91 in.

"You sold him to me first!"

NO GOLD, ALL GLORY, TO BOOM · SATURDAY NIGHT · BY TUESDAY BOOM HAD SOLD HIM AGAIN, TO H-TOWN

BOOM BAUM · 90.60 TO 137.32 · BACKDOOR HEAT

I Want My Old Team Back

Backdoor Heat put Tony Pollard in the flex and Pollard scored 36.0. Boom's defense scored minus three. Sunday night, he wrote home.

REPRINTED IN FULL — Boom Baum · Sunday night · Premier chat

I just want to say,

I have lost more games this year already than the entire last year. Last season was so much fun. 1st place in the regular season. I could relax and make trades and just be an all around great person.

This year is different. My players don't score, unless I trade them then they score lots (here's looking at you Nabers). This year just sucks. My team is terrible and no matter how many players I trade or try to make good informed decisions my team is awful and I lose.

I want my old team back. I want to feel what Texas Trim My Bush and Ole Willie My Nillie is feeling. I miss it.

The grief had started in the afternoon. Boom had claimed at lunch that on days like this he just dances it off, and the commissioner wanted the footage. "Prove it!" Boom sent a still. "No, I want the real thing. Tik tok style. It will make you feel better." "I am too depressed" / "I can't experience joy right now. It feels too wrong."

Monday night he had George Pickens in the flex, the Cowboys on the set, and a stat line already written out for Pickens by hand, in a scoring system this league has never used. Jackin' Goff caught it from across the room. Boom kept yelling at the television anyway: "Come on Pickens! Just score 45 more points!" Pickens finished with 13.7.

Wednesday night Amburgers drew the Voicemail Extravaganza winners live in the Stream Room, and one of the three names belonged to the man who cannot experience joy right now. A package is on its way. So, he insists, is next year: "3 on 3 bball tournament as a part of the hemorrhoid games next year." The Guy Next Door: "Does basketball require ballistic movements?" Boom: "Yes. But next year I hope to explode".

"I feel like my season is similar to the pain of this baby when he goes to his first day of kindergarten."

Boom Baum — The pod line · before Week 6

TRANSCRIPTION

"This is Boom Baum. I just wanted to say this week I am going to be the one that takes down Willy Nilly. AKA [the Jigba], whatever his name is. … He thinks he's five and oh. He thinks he's hot stuff. Oh, dang it. Boom is coming to wreck shop and make you beg for mercy."

Final: the Jigba 140.00, Boom 88.50.

Boom Baum — The pod line · calling back

TRANSCRIPTION

"This is Boom calling back. I just wanted to revise my earlier voice message. Not only does my team suck ass, but [Cam Skattebo] is the worst running back on the planet, and I'm going to trade him for a box of freaking carrots. I hate everybody and everything, and fantasy football sucks. Bye."

Boom sent Skattebo to the Bush on Oct. 20, with Jonathan Taylor, for Kyren Williams and Aaron Jones Sr. Skattebo scored 19.6 Sunday, on the Bush's bench.

THE MATH · MONDAY NIGHT

Boom: "Pickens stat line tonight:
12 receptions: 12 points
200 receiving yards: 20 points
3 touchdowns: 18 points"

Jackin' Goff: "You still think we are in a PPR league don't you"

"I can't experience joy right now. It feels too wrong."

BOOM BAUM · SUNDAY NIGHT · WEDNESDAY NIGHT HE WON A PRIZE

HANDLE WITH CARE · JERRY GM + JERRY OWNER · 1-6

Please Be Gentle

Monday afternoon Jerry filed one request: "please be gentle as you tell the story of Jerry GM Jerry Owner this week." So: lights low, voices down, the numbers tucked in under a blanket.

1-6
the record. By his own count, the one win was a gift from the commissioner.

913.64
points allowed, most in any league. The bot said 805. It got worse.

5.0
Harrison Butker, filling in for Cam Little's bye. Three more and he still loses by 0.20.

-1.0
Patriots D/ST, Thursday night, before anything else had gone wrong.

Last week this franchise was the Joker, scrolling for Batman photos in the basement with the lights low. This week he is on the couch with the blanket up to his chin, and the week has to be told to him the way you tell a six-year-old where the dog went.

It started Thursday, sweetheart. The Patriots defense scored minus one point. "Negative..... NEGATIVE POINTS". Friday the bot's power rankings came for him by name: "805.12 points allowed. Your opponents hate you specifically." Jerry had a suspect before lunch. "I can't prove it yet but @Fart Toot Squeek is behind that". By dinner he had gone full Dr. Evil at the False Hopes, pinky and all, and Boom cast the commissioner as his Mini-Me on the spot.

Sunday night Celery sticks was done at 108.52 and Jerry sat at 100.32 with one man left, a kicker. "Just so this is clear, Cam Little is on a bye week and and I had to pickup Butker." Down 8.20, the pregame prayer was at least arithmetically honest: "Need a touchdown and then some from Harrison Butker tonight.....".

Amburgers, watching: "Butker has lost it". Jerry, gently: "I'm gonna be sick." And then, quieter: "I can't take another loss".

Butker hit one from distance, five points, and the night froze at 105.32, down 3.20, game still running. Celery sticks, winning with Drake Maye's 28.94 on his bench, could not look. "I was like I'm turning everything off until it's over". Upstairs the commissioner was doing math. "Now the only thing to root for is Butker to get 3 more points exactly." Jerry: "You're a SICK freak". Jerry, a moment later: "And I love it". The commissioner, to the whole house: "This is why I will never root to ban kickers".

The three never came. Thursday, asked Maye or Stroud, Jerry had given Celery the week's only lineup advice: "Go no QB". Celery benched Maye and won anyway. His own quarterback, Bryce Young, scored 5.42, as close to no QB as ESPN allows. He was the only man in the league who took his advice.

CARE INSTRUCTIONS — Jerry GM + Jerry Owner

◯ WASH GENTLY, COLD
Do not wring. Do not tumble. 1-6 is a delicate cycle.

△ DO NOT BLEACH
He is already the pale man with the skinny legs.

□ LAY FLAT TO RECOVER
913.64 against will not come out. Air in the basement.

⌀ DO NOT IRON
No kickers. No Thursday. No backyard.

★ MATERIALS
Bryce Young 5.42, Butker 5.0, Patriots D/ST -1.0. Made in the basement.

$ WARRANTY
Fees paid every season. Returns every season. Held over his head for 12 months.

The commissioner, a week after asking for a Robin.

"Loading... never a doubt....loading....."

JERRY GM + JERRY OWNER, SUNDAY NIGHT, HARRISON BUTKER STILL KICKING · FINAL: 105.32 TO 108.52

GET WELL SOON · FRAGILE · THIS SIDE UP

Do Not Stack

The league wants a punishment video for last place, and Jerry, 1-6, has already scouted the location: The Guy Next Door's flower bed.

Get Well Soon

Hush, little Jerry, don't you cry,
Cam Little's team was on a bye.
If Butker brings you only five, you lose by 3.20. You're alive.

The bot says they hate you. Specifically.
The commissioner did it. Allegedly.
If the last-place video needs a plot,
the flowers and the turnips are the spot.

Hush, little Jerry, close your eyes.
You'll pay your fees. Nobody's surprised.

FROM THE LANA STRAW WEEKLY GIFT SHOP
SUNG SOFTLY · SENTIMENTS NOT GUARANTEED

Exhibit A. Note which man is begging.

"what's the punishment for last place in all of Lana straw?" The Guy Next Door asked it in the main room, with everyone home, and Jerry answered before the commissioner could. "Don't. Please. Stop." Amburgers wants a toilet bowl with a punishment at the bottom of it. The Guy Next Door wants video ("Good shit too. I don't watch 720p"), and when Jerry told him to be careful what he wished for, he was plain about it: "I just want to see you run".

So Jerry, from under the blanket, offered to run. "What if the video is me running, but as you watch, you begin to realize I'm in your backyard. Running across your flowers and turnips. Doing 'horns down' on your own turf." He had the dialogue ready. "'Honey that pale man with the skinny legs is running in the backyard again'".

Friday's voicemail was not a gentle man's voicemail. "If Scott hadn't changed the rules… to give me that first win, I would be completely winless." Then, sweetly: "I hope that you don't think that I'm going down without a fight. I'm taking all of you with me. We're going to have a policy change at the end of this season." The commissioner heard "straight up nihilistic jokerism" and made the first policy change himself: a man who has never touched another owner's roster will touch this one the day Jerry starts dropping players.

The same commissioner had explained why no Champeens guest had ever come on: "too scared to come on here with his one-in-five wreck, his tail tucked between his legs". Jerry: "Just to clarify, I didn't turn Scott down because 'I'm scared', I wasn't available. I have proof." The proof is at left.

His Knockout duo, Yes Diamonds, went to bed Monday with the chop still open. "I'm going to sleep but if I wake up and we've been chopped this might be last you hear from me until next season". They cleared it by 4.14 while he slept, and by Wednesday his partner, Peens Bound n Down, "deserves a lot of credit for Yes Diamonds becoming the juggernaut of the chop league." Amburgers: "Juggernaut?"

Sunday night, the kicker done and the backyard scouted, he got to the part that should worry the whole league. "The craziest part of all of this is that next season I'll pay my fees and start all over again." The Guy Next Door: "You have to pay?!" Jerry: "In more ways than one."

"My wife holds this over my head for 12 months"

JERRY GM + JERRY OWNER, SUNDAY NIGHT, REPLYING TO HIMSELF

THE VOICEMAIL TAPES · FOUR CALLS · ONE CALLER · AIRED FRIDAY

I'll Hang Up and Listen

The Guy Next Door lost a Monday night by 3.60 and called the pod four times from the same couch. The hosts played every one, ruled out hamburgers, and diagnosed despair.

01 RACHAAD WHITE, WALTZING
Side A · after a Monday night

THE GUY NEXT DOOR

"Hey guys, man, what a week, what a freaking week. You come in, you do all the right things. You study, you've got your sheets, you know, all the names."

"I think my Monday night, I'm sitting on my couch just hoping a guy doesn't score points. What the heck am I doing?"

"If Rachaad White is waltzing in, where are we? All right, I'll hang up with this one."

AMBURGERS

> "it's going to be like John Johnson is our guest tonight so we'll just keep it rolling here"

02 WHY DO I PLAY THIS GAME
Side A · the morning after

THE GUY NEXT DOOR

"I sit down on Thursday nights. I watch the game. I don't care about it. It's the only thing that matters. And so I do it. I stay up too late. I wake up tired on Friday."

"My wife asked me to do something. My kids asked me to do something. I'm always like, no, I can't."

"I walk through the stages of grief. I know I'm in them."

"I ask myself, why do I play this game, and it still doesn't make sense to me. All right, I'll hang up and listen."

THE HOSTS

> Amburgers: "This is so good. Is he becoming hamburgers?" Fart Toot Squeek: "No, this is different." Amburgers: "This is a different monster." / "Yeah, this is despair."

03 5 A.M., THE WAIVER WIRE
Side B · the one night the baby slept

THE GUY NEXT DOOR

"Monday night, is the first night in months that my son had slept all the way through the night. We made an agreement that if I slept on the couch that he would sleep through the night. And he did."

"And you know why I'm wired? Because I'm freaking looking at the waiver wire at 5 a.m. on the only night that my son doesn't come to wake me up."

"if I'm not waking up because my son wakes me up, fantasy football wakes me up."

AMBURGERS

> "I'll hang up and listen will you though John are you going to listen"

04 THE 2-4 CLUB
Side B · re: Jerry GM + Jerry Owner, 1-5 at the time

THE GUY NEXT DOOR

"I'm experiencing real pain here. You're playing some silly game down there in the Champions League. Trying to be up here with the big dogs, this is pain."

"all I got to do is be top ten, and I'm still in it, baby. And the problem is I don't feel good about top 10. I feel scared and lost and alone. So, all right. I'll hang up and listen."

THE HOSTS

> Fart Toot Squeek: "Bravo. Bravo. Amazing." / "So good on you, John."

ALSO ON THE LINE · SATURDAY MORNING

Saturday he woke up having traded his wife's car to the commissioner for draft dollars. In the dream. No Gold, All Glory, who owes him nothing until Monday: "Depending on the car that's a good deal!!" The Guy Next Door: "We were between 3 and 4 lol". Cowboys November False Hopes, appraising: "So worth a $1-2 more than an Emmanuel Wilson?"

THE PLAN · YEAR TWO

Eighteen minutes after Monday's "Maybe next week" he was asking what the keeper rules are in the Champeens, because he is "Starting to get my plan together for the draft next year". Cowboys November False Hopes: "Saquon will be available don't worry". Amburgers, on the hard part: "You'll def want my team, you're gonna have to find that sweet spot though of just missing out on the premier league in the hemorrhoid games so you can get first pick of the available teams".

SHORT STORIES

Never a Doubt

THE OPPORTUNITY · SATURDAY MORNING

Second Layer of the Pyramid

No Gold, All Glory woke up with a business plan he could not remember. “I had a dream a few days ago that we somehow got involved in some Fantasy football MLM scheme. I can’t remember the specifics, only that it wasn’t going very well for me”. The Kickers n Jigba had the org chart drawn before the coffee was cold. “A fantasy football MLM sounds like a gold mine! I’d like to recruit John Johnson as my second layer of the pyramid, no offense to any of y’all.” No Gold, already in: “We’re gonna be fucking rich!!!!”

Amburgers wanted only the picture. “Watching [The Guy Next Door] close a deal then turning around flipping on the sunglasses and dropping his patented... ‘Never a doubt’ Would be electric”. That night a college game was dying on him inch by inch (“Why do we watch sports again?”) when the second layer walked onto the floor, flipped the glasses down, and closed. “Never a doubt”.

SHINY HINEYS · 142.38 · SUNDAY

The Tucker Curse

The Hineys hung 142.38 on Jackin’ Goff, the Premier’s high score, and spent the afternoon filing a grievance against their own bench. “I swear if I play tre Tucker he will get 3 points. If he is on my bench it’s a guaranteed 100+ yards and TD”. Tucker, benched, went for 19.8, which to the Hineys proves the man can read a lineup card. Boom, buried under a 90.60, tried some perspective. “You have 150 points. I have 50”. The Hineys were not accepting perspective at this time. “That’s beside the point. I could have 170”.

JACKIN’ GOFF · FRIDAY NIGHT · OFF TOPIC

10/10 Would Recommend

Jackin’ Goff spent Friday night in a Virginia Beach hotel room with no towels left, and opened the league’s advice desk. Where the towels went is between him, the balcony and housekeeping. He had believed himself drunk and, on review, was only buzzed. He is down $50. Thursday, before the trip, he had set his football goal low enough to step over. “Will I finally get over 16 points from my QB?! I mean still gonna lose but that’s called progress!” Caleb Williams gave him 24.1. He lost by 36.56.

ASK THE GUY NEXT DOOR

Q “Do I leave a fat tip for the house cleaners?”

A “Gotta be a ‘I’m sorry’ with cash on top of the note”.

Q Fifty dollars on the dresser. Towels on the balcony.

A “That’s the move.”

FINAL REVIEW “10/10 Virginia Beach would recommend”

H-TOWN “Can’t wait until this makes it in the ledger next week”.

THE RULES COMMITTEE · FOUR DOWN, FOUR UP · PUBLIC COMMENT PERIOD

Relegation has a lobbyist. Amburgers, two-time champion, relegated, first place downstairs, spent Friday night selling a Premier that sends four teams down and brings four up, the way a man sells a timeshare he already owns. The case, in full: “I need more people down here to banter with.” Commissioner Fart Toot Squeek, gavel down: “what makes the Premier League special is that it has that word in front of it and that it’s hard to get into.” Boom, 2-5, read the bill from the Premier side of the glass and started yelling. “I can’t tell you how much I hate the idea of four people relegated a year and four people move up. ... I think next year I invite my grandma who’s never seen a day of football in her life to be a part of the Premier league come on everybody get in. It’s so easy.”

01 A New Trophy

SPONSOR: SHINY HINEYS · SATURDAY · EXHIBIT A

“New Lana straw trophy. I’ll see yall at the auction”. The Bush, on the gemstones: “Each of the gemstones needs to be a different type of anal warts”. Amburgers has worn one. “My gauntlet got me relegated last season at the end”.

BIDDING OPENS AT $25M

02 A Last Place for the Peens

SPONSOR: AMBURGERS · SUNDAY TO WEDNESDAY

Amburgers wants the Peens to have a last place punishment, and The Guy Next Door wants it on video. “Good shit too. I don’t watch 720p”. The Hineys nominated the colonoscopy Amburgers had just bragged about, and the chair wrote the prep: “But prior to the colonoscopy you have to sharpie your butthole”. “If the doc asks about it you’re not allowed to reveal that it’s sharpie”. “Even after they bring multiple other providers in to get second opinions”.

REFERRED TO A SPECIALIST · 1080P MINIMUM

THE CHAMPEENS · COWBOYS NOVEMBER FALSE HOPES · 4-3

And All Yall Scoffed

The highest score in all three leagues belonged to the man who had spent a month trying to trade Tony Pollard to anyone who would hold still.

167.18 — Cowboys November False Hopes, the top score in Lana Straw this week, every flight

36.0 — Tony Pollard, the running back nobody would take off his hands

1.5 — Points by which he was "in" the playoffs Friday. Now sixth, 785.86

+$63 — Draft value the Gators carried out of Wednesday's Saquon fire sale

The False Hopes, Thursday. Sunday he lived it.

For a month the False Hopes shopped Tony Pollard to every franchise in the building and every franchise had somewhere to be. Sunday Pollard went for 36.0, Joe Burrow 32.88, Tee Higgins 24.8, and all 167.18 of it landed on Mac Attack, the commissioner's downstairs franchise, which answered with 81.92. He took his bow in the trade channel. "And all yall scoffed at my endless Tony Pollard trade offers". By Monday the sticker had changed. "Based on this week's performance, Pollard is now worth JSN+Kenneth Walker". Friday he was already celebrating. "Damn, I'm 'in' the playoffs by a point and a half currently". Jerry, from 1-5: "Don't leave us!!!"

Then the charity. Monday night the Guy Next Door watched Saquon Barkley jog back onto the field, against his own under-40 tip, and begged the one man who could help. "trade saquon now! Don't let him get hurt!" The False Hopes: "I got you". Tuesday the sign went up. "Saquon fire sale is on, send me your offers (trying to help you out [The Guy Next Door])". Wednesday night Holding These Alligators Down walked out with Saquon, A.J. Brown and Colston Loveland for $35 of draft value, receipt at right. The Guy Next Door got a tag. "[The Guy Next Door] you're welcome".

COWBOYS NOVEMBER FALSE HOPES
FIRE SALE · ALL SALES FINAL
Wed Oct 28 · 7:44 PM · Register 2

SOLD TO: HOLDING THESE ALLIGATORS DOWN

SAQUON BARKLEY, RB	$50
A.J. BROWN, WR	$41
COLSTON LOVELAND, TE	$7
OUT THE DOOR	$98

TENDERED

MALIK NABERS, WR	$27
KYLE PITTS SR., TE	$8
EMANUEL WILSON, RB	$0
TENDERED	$35
CHANGE DUE, GATORS	$63

"trying to help you out"
NO REFUNDS · NO EXCHANGES
"you're welcome"

#	THE TABLE, WEEK 7	W-L	PF
1	Amburgers	5-2	875.48
2	Otter	5-2	812.58
3	Holding These Alligators Down	5-2	738.48
4	Chase Is My Leader	5-2	714.84
5	Mac Attack	4-3	798.38
6	Cowboys November False Hopes	4-3	785.86
WC	Prime Lime Time	2-5	792.62

THE ADVICE LINE

Celery sticks, Thursday, thirty minutes out: "I have 30 min to decide to play stroud or keep maye in." The False Hopes: "I'd probably play Stroud just to diversify in case NE has a stinker". The fine print: "But usually if I run two QBs, the one I don't play scores higher". Jerry: "Go no QB". Stroud 18.52, Maye 28.94 on the bench. After the game: "well Zach, I'm sorry you listened to me about QBs".

Sunday: "When fantasy just feels like a Monday before Monday." Won, 108.52 to 105.32. Amburgers, who invented it: "The amburgers way to deal with fantasy anxiety".

AROUND THE PEENS

OTTER · 5-2 · Friday, down a tight end: "T. Warren is being a real D.B. and being 'injured', and ruled out for Sunday. So, I need a TE." "[Amburgers] go ahead and send me another trade offer involving Dobbins, cause we all know it will happen." "How many times you sent him out in a trade proposal this season, 34?" Amburgers: "21.5 times actually". Otter settled for Tyler Higbee, bought from Prime Lime Time with Keon Coleman. Higbee brought 2.4 to a 111.32 to 83.60 beating at the Gators.

NEAUX GOLD, ALL GLORY · 2-5 · 144.02 on The Jackal, 80.92, with Caleb Williams 24.1, Jameson Williams 23.6 and Omar Cooper Jr. 21.0. The Jackal's season reads L-W-L-W-L-W-L, so everyone saw this coming except the Jackal.

PRIME LIME TIME · 2-5, WILD CARD · Holds the points seed at 792.62, by 1.64 over Neaux Gold. Lost to Amburgers 129.20 to 100.86 with Matthew Stafford's 20.0 on the bench.

LAST PLACE LEAVES

Backdoor Warriors, Chopped

Saquon Barkley scored 14.1 on their bench. They went out by 4.14. Five remain.

Monday afternoon three duos stood on the Knockout's trapdoor with one game left to sort them out. Glory Burgers led Yes Diamonds by 0.14. Backdoor Warriors, Backdoor Heat's duo, sat under both of them holding CeeDee Lamb and a ticket to Dallas-Philly. The Cowboys November False Hopes leaned over the rail and asked Jerry, half of Yes Diamonds: "Would you trade losing in Chop League this week if it's because CeeDee puts up 26.05 points in a Dallas rout over Philly". Jerry: "You're a sick nasty freak for posing a question that hurts me in two ways." "I want to win, bottom line."

Up on the high ground the False Hopes read Amburgers, half of Glory Burgers, his margin: "y'all are up by 0.14 pt". Amburgers kept his feet up. "We're well clear of the backdoor warriors though. We're fine". "Just the question of how bad we want to be ahead of diamonds".

Jerry turned out the light with CeeDee Lamb still to play against him and left the league a note in case Dallas got him: "I'm going to sleep but if I wake up and we've been chopped this might be last you hear from me until next season". Dallas routed Philly. Lamb delivered everything the False Hopes promised except the number, 21.9 instead of 26.05, the distance between a farewell address and a Wednesday spent calling a fifth-place team a juggernaut. Upstairs, Backdoor Heat scored 137.32, held the wild card, and still lost a whole franchise through the floor.

jug·ger·naut

noun · Knockout usage, Wed., Oct. 28

1. A massive, unstoppable force.

2. Yes Diamonds, Week 7: 85.46 points, fifth of six, 4.14 above the trapdoor. Drake London's 16.1 on the bench.

"[Diamond Dogs] deserves a lot of credit for Yes Diamonds becoming the juggernaut of the chop league." Jerry GM + Jerry Owner

See also "Juggernaut?" (Amburgers, immediately).

THE LINEUP CARD · BACKDOOR WARRIORS

FLX	Garrett Wilson	3.6
BN	Saquon Barkley	14.1
	As played	−4.14
	Swap the two	+6.36

THE ESTATE SALE · WEDNESDAY WAIVERS

PLAYER	BUYER	FAB
CeeDee Lamb	We're Having (a Little) Fun	$251
Kenneth Walker III	Yes Diamonds	$160
Christian Watson	Glory Burgers	$110

The Bush's duo paid $251 for the receiver who came 4.15 short of saving the Warriors; Lamb now plays Monday nights for a man who sleeps through them. The juggernaut spent $160 on a running back.

Thursday the Jigba showed up with a name tag already printed, "The Anxious Amburgers", and an NCT to pin it on: Meaty Balls outscores Glory Burgers, you wear it. "You scared?" Amburgers: "I won't be bullied by the Throne". Meaty Balls then scored 151.02, best in the Knockout, 51.72 clear of the Burgers. The only thing that saved Amburgers his name was refusing to bet it.

	WEEK 7, SIX CLUBS	PTS
1	Meaty Balls	151.02
2	We're Having (a Little) Fun	115.88
3	Michael's Magnificent Hiney	114.34

	WEEK 7, CONT.	PTS
4	Glory Burgers	99.30
5	Yes Diamonds	85.46
6	~~Backdoor Warriors~~ · chopped	81.32

THE CHOPPED, IN ORDER · Fart Toot Sneak (Week 1) · The Otter is Jackin Goff (Week 2) · Boomer Frogs (Week 3) · Cowboys September Farts (Week 4) · JackaWhack (Week 5) · Prime Time's Next Door (Week 6) · Backdoor Warriors (Week 7).

THE DUO · FART TOOT SQUEEK AND AMBURGERS

Wait to Publish the Pod

No guest, no Peens, and a commissioner who asked his co-host to sit on the episode.

S05 EP08 · OUT FRI., OCT. 23 · RECORDED THURSDAY DURING BEARS-PATRIOTS

The standings in both flights; a voicemail block that ran thirteen minutes; Amburgers' four-down, four-up campaign; the Discord.

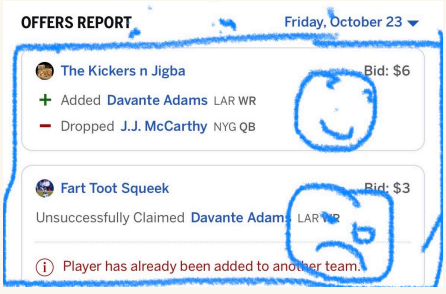

The Champeens have never sent a guest, and everyone knows who the commissioner blames. The Gators raised a hand from the back: "Dudes I'll be on your pod". Amburgers, the one Champeen with a microphone, prefers to lead another way: "I'm like the lead by example kind of guy."

Chase Is My Leader, 5-1 on a $100 waiver budget he has never touched, stumped the hosts for a full segment. "Who would have picked Oscar's team to be 5-1? Just insanity." Friday morning the answer came from an analyst nobody booked. The league's bot, ordered up by Amburgers overnight, ran 30,000 simulations and roasted the whole board, one sentence per franchise. The commissioner folded on the spot: "This feels like the best power ranking analysis I've ever seen". The Bush: "I love that @Lana Straw Bot is sassy".

GRADED: POD VS. BOT

THE HOSTS, THURSDAY NIGHT: 2 OF 3 · THE BOT, FRIDAY MORNING: 4 OF 7

- ✓ The commissioner, on the Premier wild card: "it would be backdoor heat at this point". 137.32 over Boom. Still is.
- ✓ Amburgers, on Jerry: "he's starting the Patriots against the Bears oh my gosh this guy's never gonna make playoffs". Patriots D/ST, –1.0. 1-6.
- ✗ The commissioner: Jackin' Goff "needs Caleb Williams to have an epic fourth quarter so that he can take down Shiny Hineys". Caleb 24.1. Hineys 142.38.
- ✓ The bot, on Fart Toot Squeek at 2-4: "The record is lying." 118.94. 3-4, still second in points.
- ✓ The bot, on Jackin' Goff: "Too little, too late, but cute." 105.82 to 142.38. 2-5.
- ✓ The bot, on Jerry: "Your opponents hate you specifically." Celery sticks, 108.52 to 105.32. 1-6.
- ✓ The bot, on the Jackal: "Lose next week, presumably." 80.92 to 144.02.
- ✗ The bot, on the Jigba: "Everyone else is playing for 2nd." 2nd won, 115.90 to 92.72.
- ✗ The bot, on Otter: "Otterly dominant." 83.60 to 111.32.
- ✗ The bot, on Chase Is My Leader: "Luck is a skill." 84.80 to 103.58, Dak's 26.3 benched.

Mid-recording the commissioner looked up from his phone like a man who has found a wallet. Jackin' Goff had cut Davante Adams, hamstring and all, and the claim would clear Friday. "Maybe wait to publish the pod here". "Hopefully this won't be published until I can claim him. Yeehaw."

The episode went out at midnight anyway, and the Jigba was at the window with $6 when waivers ran. The commissioner had brought $3 to a bid he announced on air. By breakfast the receipt hung in the pod's channel, a smiley over the $6, a frown over the $3.

"I love you Lanas far and wide, all of you, except for Chase."

FART TOOT SQUEEK, SIGNING OFF · CHASE BEING JERRY GM + JERRY OWNER, 1-6, THE ONE WITH PROOF

THE DESK

Lamar Jackson Moves Again

Four deals. Lamar Jackson changed teams for the third time in eleven days.

FRI, OCT. 23 · 5:38 PM — Twenty-five minutes on the block

BOOM BAUM RECEIVES	SHINY HINEYS RECEIVES
Emanuel Wilson	Tyjae Spears

CASH CONSIDERATIONS: THE HINEYS, "$2 TO ME FROM [BOOM] FOR THAT ONE"

THE FLOOR · The Hineys priced the merchandise out loud, "Wilson on the block for draft dollars. I'd rather play Braelon Allen this week", fine print included: "Bad matchup but RB is a wasteland". Boom, who has never walked past a sign, paid $2 for the wasteland and it scored 19.0 in his flex. Everything he already owned lost by 46.72.

SUN, OCT. 25 · 9:19 AM · CHAMPEENS — A tight end by kickoff

PRIME LIME TIME RECEIVES	OTTER RECEIVES
Keon Coleman	Tyler Higbee

CASH CONSIDERATIONS: NONE REPORTED IN THE CHANNEL

THE FLOOR · The Otter, in first place and out of tight ends, Saturday night: "I need a TE for tomorrow. Can anyone make a reasonable trade for this?" Prime Lime Time, 2-5, had Higbee on the porch by breakfast. Higbee gave the Otter 2.4 in a 27.72-point loss and Coleman gave Prime Lime 0.0 from the bench, a trade that helped nobody in either direction, which takes teamwork.

BIG TUE, OCT. 27 · 7:52 AM — Swift and Olave, seven days a Boom

H-TOWN HOLY ROLLERS RECEIVES	BOOM BAUM RECEIVES
Lamar Jackson ($14), Garrett Wilson ($23), D'Andre Swift ($28), Chris Olave ($25)	Tetairoa McMillan ($12), Emeka Egbuka ($16), Tee Higgins ($24), Breece Hall ($39)

CASH CONSIDERATIONS: NONE REPORTED IN THE CHANNEL · DRAFT VALUE $90 OUT, $91 IN, BOOM +$1

THE FLOOR · Lamar Jackson's passport: Boom to No Gold on Oct. 16, back to Boom Oct. 20, to H Town Oct. 27. Sunday Boom gave the No Gold pawn shop one star for selling him a quarterback on crutches. Tuesday he sold the crutches to H Town for Breece Hall, and the preacher, $91 lighter and one quarterback on crutches heavier, answered the room with one GIF: no school.

BIG WED, OCT. 28 · 7:44 PM · CHAMPEENS — Three starters off a 167

HOLDING THESE ALLIGATORS DOWN RECEIVES	COWBOYS NOVEMBER FALSE HOPES RECEIVES
A.J. Brown ($41), Saquon Barkley ($50), Colston Loveland ($7)	Kyle Pitts Sr. ($8), Emanuel Wilson, Malik Nabers ($27)

CASH CONSIDERATIONS: NONE REPORTED IN THE CHANNEL · DRAFT VALUE $98 TO THE GATORS, $35 BACK, GATORS +$63

THE FLOOR · The False Hopes swore fidelity to Loveland Thursday night, "Loveland, I never lost faith (don't look at my chats)", and sold him six days later with Saquon and A.J. Brown.

HEARD AT THE DESK

The Guy Next Door, at the exchange window: "How much fab can I get for a draft dollar?" Jerry: "2:1". "I thought fab was the yen". Jerry: "Yen keep looking".

TERMS OF ENDEARMENT

Peens Bound: "[Fart Toot Squeek] sends me trade offers like he's feasting on a dead carcass".

The Jigba: "I wish people sweet talked me the way I sweet talk my trade negotiation partners".

THE WIRE, IN BRIEF · Friday, the Jigba $6 for Davante Adams over the commissioner's $3. Wednesday: False Hopes $48, Stefon Diggs. The Guy Next Door $12 Vele, $9 Singletary. The Jigba $11, Ja'Kobi Lane.

PREMIER FINALS

Seven and Oh

The Bush beat the other unbeaten by 23.18. Of last week's seven teams at 2-4, two won. The other five are 2-5.

GAME OF THE WEEK · THE LAST UNBEATEN

TEXAS TORNADO'S BUSH 7-0 115.90 DEF. THE KICKERS N JIGBA 6-1 92.72

Six-and-oh met six-and-oh and only one of them had to be good at it. The Bush started Jonathan Taylor, five days off the Boom trade, for 18.0, and left Cam Skattebo, from the same trade, on the bench for 19.6, a mistake you can afford when you win by 23. The Jigba got 27.8 from Jaxon Smith-Njigba, 4.3 from his two flex starters combined, and knew exactly whose fault that was: "I can't buy a point from these dart throw flex starts! I'm so unlucky". The Bush is 7-0 with fewer points than five of the teams beneath him, and not one of the five has found the Sunday to prove it.

MATCHUPS

Shiny Hineys 142.38
Jackin' Goff 105.82

The Hineys on Tre Tucker: "If he is on my bench it's a guaranteed 100+ yards and TD". On the bench: 19.8, curse running.

Backdoor Heat 137.32
Boom Baum 90.60

Pollard 36.00 in the Heat's flex, Dak 26.28 on the bench for decoration.

Fart Toot Squeek 118.94
Peens Bound 59.62

Maye 28.94. The Jigba on Peens Bound, Thursday: "Most upwardly mobile team in the league". Peens' best starter: Purdy, 12.02.

Texas Tornado's Bush 115.90
The Kickers n Jigba 92.72

The Bush is the last 7-0. The Jigba is still first in points by 97.62.

H-Town Holy Rollers 115.90
I ❤️ The Seahawks 77.28

Higgins 24.8 for H Town Sunday, Boom's by Tuesday.

No Gold, All Glory 117.46
The Guy Next Door 113.22

Closest Premier game, Monday night again. Lamb 21.9 for No Gold, Saquon 14.1 for the Guy.

STANDINGS

		TEAM	W-L	PF
1	↑	Texas Tornado's Bush	7-0	803.0
2	↓	The Kickers n Jigba	6-1	971.2
3	·	No Gold, All Glory	5-2	835.0
4	·	H-Town Holy Rollers	4-3	805.6
5	·	Shiny Hineys	4-3	774.7
6	·	Fart Toot Squeek	3-4	873.6
WC	·	Backdoor Heat	3-4	811.7
8	·	Boom Baum	2-5	750.2
9	·	The Guy Next Door	2-5	748.5
10	·	Jackin' Goff	2-5	709.9
11	·	Peens Bound	2-5	651.1
12	·	I ❤️ The Seahawks	2-5	622.1

Yellow line: the wild card, most points outside the top six. Backdoor Heat holds it from seventh at 811.68, 61.52 clear of Boom. Fart Toot Squeek's 873.62 keeps him sixth on the tiebreak at 3-4. Only the top two moved. Arrows are the move from Week 6.

HIGH SCORE
142.38
Shiny Hineys

LOW SCORE
59.62
Peens Bound, lowest in Lana Straw

CLOSEST GAME
4.24
No Gold over The Guy Next Door

THE CURSE HOLDS
19.80
Tre Tucker, on the Hineys' bench

CHAMPEENS FINALS

Four Teams at 5-2

GAME OF THE WEEK · BY 3.20

CELERY STICKS 3-4 108.52

DEF.

JERRY GM + JERRY OWNER 1-6 105.32

Celery benched Drake Maye on the False Hopes' advice and Maye put up 28.94 Thursday night. Stroud's 18.52 held up anyway, because Jerry had Cam Little on bye and sent Harrison Butker out for 5.0. The margin was 3.20. Pages 7 and 8.

MATCHUPS

Cowboys Nov. False Hopes 167.18
Mac Attack 81.92
Best score in all three leagues. Pollard 36.00, Burrow 32.88.

Neaux Gold, All Glory 144.02
The Jackal 80.92
Caleb Williams 24.1, Jameson Williams 23.6. By 63.10.

Amburgers 129.20
Prime Lime Time 100.86
First place, "surely fleeting". Stafford's 20.0 on Prime Lime's bench.

Holding These Alligators Down 111.32
Otter 83.60
The Sunday-morning tight end, Higbee, 2.4. The Otter fell out of first.

Celery sticks 108.52
Jerry GM + Jerry Owner 105.32
Closest Champeens game. Butker, 5.0.

OKC Schlegstas 103.58
Chase Is My Leader 84.80
Chase won five straight, then benched Dak Prescott, 26.3, for the sixth.

STANDINGS

		TEAM	W-L	PF
1	↑	Amburgers	5-2	875.5
2	↓	Otter	5-2	812.6
3	↑	Holding These Alligators Down	5-2	738.5
4	↓	Chase Is My Leader	5-2	714.8
5	↓	Mac Attack	4-3	798.4
6	·	Cowboys Nov. False Hopes	4-3	785.9
WC		Prime Lime Time	2-5	792.6
7	↑	OKC Schlegstas	3-4	729.9
8	↑	Celery sticks	3-4	699.6
9	↓	The Jackal	3-4	698.3
10	↓	Prime Lime Time	2-5	792.6
11	↑	Neaux Gold, All Glory	2-5	791.0
12	↓	Jerry GM + Jerry Owner	1-6	780.3

Yellow line: the wild card, most points outside the top six. Prime Lime Time holds it at 792.62 from tenth, 1.64 ahead of Neaux Gold. Arrows are the move from Week 6.

HIGH SCORE 167.18 — Cowboys Nov. False Hopes

LOW SCORE 80.92 — The Jackal, as forecast

CLOSEST GAME 3.20 — Celery over Jerry

BENCHED AND WON 28.94 — Celery's Drake Maye

POINT AFTER · WEEK 7

Goodnight, Lana Straw

The Voicemail Extravaganza drew three winners Wednesday night: No Gold, H Town and Boom, whose last entry ended "I hate everybody and everything, and fantasy football sucks. Bye." A prize is coming to his house anyway.

LANA STRAW WEEKLY · Week 7, 2026 · Closed Oct. 28. Quotes are verbatim; pod names cleaned where the transcript misheard them. The cover and the Rapids cartoon are AI images, made at the owner's request.